To Whom It May Concern:

For our hospital Winterfest December 14, 2007 Rick Bultez was chosen as our performer. Booking a show with Rick was very easy and he was extremely professional to work with. He provided a web site to review a sampling of his shows for us to see. Rick gave us the names of local references for us to call to which we did and received rave reviews.

The day of the show was forecasted for a snowstorm. Rick was easily contacted and he adjusted for the drive. He assured me that he would make the show that night. Upon arrival, Rick, who had a very professional appearance, quickly set up his own equipment that he brought with him so that he could assure a high quality show.

Once his show got started he was good about adjusting his jokes to fit the crowd. Being a hospital staff setting, he quickly added topics to that nature. His show was neither vulgar nor offensive. A very good fit for a variety of people. He put people at ease about hypnosis and explained how it works.

Upon getting volunteers to take part in his show, Rick went from comedian to professional hypnotist. He was very serious in the business of hypnosis. He wanted everyone to feel relaxed and safe.

Once the volunteers were hypnotized, the comedian side of Rick came back out. His content of his show was fun for all.

When he finished his show, he welcomed any questions people had regarding hypnosis. After he felt the crowd was finished, he promptly cleaned up his equipment.

I feel that choosing Rick Bultez for our entertainer was the key to making our hospitals' Winterfest a huge success.
